"Reconstructing Relational Information"

Article ID: HIPO22819

Thank you for your recent communication regarding permission to use your paper to your thesis.

If you wish to reuse your own article (or an amended version of it) in a new publication of which you are the author, editor or co-editor, prior permission is not required (with the usual acknowledgements). However, a formal grant of license can be downloaded free of charge from RightsLink by selecting "Author of this Wiley article" as your requestor type. More information can be found on this link or you may go directly to RightsLink for your permission request.

Should you need further assistance, please contact the Permissions Department at Permissions@wiley.com

Please do not hesitate to contact us again if you require any further assistance.

Kind regards,

Subject: Thesis Inclusion and Copywrite [Case Number : 02679428] {5000W00001A4xXiQAJ.0030W00003TF5EZQA1}

Hello!

I'm the a graduate student at University of Illinois at Urbana-Champaign and the lead author of doi 10.1002/hipo.22819 in Hippocampus. I'm graduating in a few months, and I was asked by our program manager to confirm that inclusion of the uncorrected version of the aforementioned paper in my thesis document will not be an issue with the publication.

Thank you for your time.

Regards,

Kevin Horecka
